DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 16, 20-27, 31-38 and 42-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schilling (USP 5166951) in view of Moses (USP 5404377).

Regarding claims 16, 20-27, 31-38 and 42-50, Schilling discloses a communication system which a packet transmitter including a demultiplexer (Fig 2, Ref 99) for demultiplexing the encoded data into a plurality of sub data sequences from a buffer for intended receiver (Fig 5, Ref 405), spreading-spectrum means for spread-spectrum processing each of the sub data sequence signals by respective chip sequence signal, thereby generating a plurality of spread-spectrum channels, with a respective chip sequence signal different from a each chip sequence signal in a plurality of chip sequence signals for spread-spectrum processing the plurality of sub data sequence signals, respectively, and with the plurality of chip sequence signals commonly used by the plurality of packet transmitters (Fig 5, Ref 407-408); combiner means for algebraically combining the plurality of spread spectrum channels as a multichannel spread spectrum signal (Fig 2, Ref 105), transmitter means for transmitting at a carrier frequency the packet-spread-spectrum signal using radio waves over a communications channel (Col 19, lines 12-16) and memory means for storing the data is well known in the art (see col. 7, lines 43-47). However, Schilling fails to disclose a header means concatenated with a spread spectrum signal wherein the header including a header symbol sequence signal spread spectrum processed with a chip sequence signal. In the same field of endeavor, Moses teaches the use of header device for adding header to a spread spectrum data signal wherein the header including a header symbol sequence signal spread spectrum processed with a chip sequence signal for transmitting to a receiver (Fig 2, Ref 232 is used to add the header to the spread spectrum signal wherein the header comprises a header processed with a PN code).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply the teaching of header device to add a packet header into a spread spectrum signal as taught by Moses into the packet multiplexing system of Schilling in order to add the controlling information into the packet to provide a timing and controlling data to receiver, thereby, enhancing the system with higher efficiency.

3. Claims 17-19, 28-30 and 39-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schilling '951 and Moses and as applied to claims 16, 27 and 38 above, and further in view of Schilling (USP 5260967) and Kim (USP 5619526).

Regarding claims 17-19, 28-30 and 39-41, Schilling '951 and Moses fail to fully disclose the claimed invention. However, the examiner takes official notice that encoder means for encoding, scrambling or encrypting is well known and expected in the art as disclosed by Schilling '967 which used an encrypt for encrypting the encoded information before transmitting (Fig 1, Ref 52) and Kim which used a scrambler for scrambling the encoded information before transmitting (Fig 1, Ref 103 and 101).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply an encoder having the function as encryption, scramble as disclosed by Kim and Schilling '967 into the system of Moses and Schilling in order to provide security for transmitting data.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
